college going girl, and often used rickshaw and bicycle for going up to destinations, while I stayed, in South India. I also learned Kannada language, which was a challenging task for me as well. After that, my studies were completed in Subharti, where I was selected as Assistant Professor, in the dental college. In the year 2012, I was appointed as the president of Subharti KKB Charitable Trust.

Q. Being the president of Subharti trust, could you share with your leadership experiences please?

Ans: I did not much concentrated always upon my leadership position, but whenever, I did implement new regulations, first I used to put myself in those positions, then to find suitable circumstances. I always try to justify my work, by implementing new ideas, to enhance my quality of working.

Q. Where do you want to find this university, in next coming 5 years and what are your visions, in this perspective?

Ans : I have always tried to fulfill the dreams of my parents. Likewise that, I wish to empower the efforts of my students to come true, in touching the new heights of development and reputation.

Q. Being a mother also, how do you balance your schedule, between your professional and personal life?

Ans: My son and my duties both are my priorities. To execute them, I need to work extremely hard. With the help of my family and university members, I am able to perform both my task efficiently.

Q. Who is the role model of your life?

Ans : My role model is my father who is the founder of this university. I have always tried to implement his teachings and ideas in my life. Beside, the role of my mother and grandmother is also very important for me, who helped me to learn good cooking, singing and dancing.

Q. What one message you would like to convey to all the working women faculties and students of this university on the occasion of International Women's Day?

Ans : Every individual has its own way of thinking. The way every man and women presume on any subject matter completely differs. So it is important for every woman to always try to be emotionally strong, firm and well-determined.

Empowerment of Women

Nitu Kumari

Women are jewels of the society. They nurture, create, transform by contribute in shaping the future of our society. Women empowerment refers to strengthening the social, economical and educational status of women to lessen the gender bias. In earlier times, sati pratha, pardah, jauhar, devdasis were some practices which act as a curse for women and disintegrated their status and dignity. But now, with the passage of time these customs were abolished and women have undergone various evolutionary changes. They have imprinted their names in various political, educational and several other fields.

Highlighting current women status, their rights are secured in constitution in order to maintain dignity and equality. They have share in parental property due to right to inheritances. 33 % seats are reserved in Loksabha in order to have equal as well as active participation. Women literacy rate is also increasing drastically. Every year 8th March is celebrated as International Women's Day to globally highlighting women progress, achievements and inspire them to achieve higher potential.

At the same time we can not deny the fact that as women have uplifted themselves in the society, various crime against women has also drastically increased. There is a need of inculcating values and knowledge in this society. Everyone should support and actively participate in women enrichments activities to promote healthy, peaceful and advanced society.
